Refrigerated and Frozen Services

Transporting fresh, frozen, and perishable commodities is a highly specialized task. It's one that few can do well; many stay away from it altogether. Can you really risk letting amateurs handle your fresh and frozen products?

We (literally) wrote the book on fresh and frozen transport.

Clark Freightways has been providing cold-chain solutions for over 50 years. We are the largest, most experienced provider of temperature-controlled less-than-truckload service in British Columbia. We've used our expertise to document tried and true, HACCP-compliant Standard Operating Procedures and Best Practices for Handling Perishable Commodities. We know how to do it, and we do it right.

Your refrigerated and frozen products remain at the same temperature from shipment to delivery while passing through our temperature controlled cross-dock. This cold chain includes our large, modern P&D fleet equipped with reefers, cold-walls, temperature probes, and other specialized handling equipment. When and where needed, you also have access to short-term, multi-temperature storage (frozen, cooler, and dry) throughout our network of service centers.
